BOUGHT AID FROM THE GODS.

Japanese Villagers United in Cursing Robber to Death.

This bit of local color is from the Japan Times: "At Shinokubo, a small village in Soshu, consisting of only 70 houses, several cases of robbery have lately occurred to the great alarm of the villagers. A diligent search instituted by them for the offender proved an utter failure. The community consequently held a mass-meeting and unanimously agreed upon cursing the robber to death. A virtuous priest of the locality was accordingly applied to for the purpose. He, however, declined to curse the robber to death, an act too cruel for a holy man like him to resort to, but promised that he would paralyze the robber by his powerful prayers, so as to disable him and lead him to repentance. Thus the priest commenced his incantations. But, behold, the robber continued his subtle operations to the indignation of the entire community. The priest has been condemned as a worthless fellow, and the villagers have taken upon themselves the task of repairing every day to the village temple by twos and threes to offer horrible prayers by which the robber is doomed to an early and fearful death."

GAVE HER A SHOCK.

Precursor's Text Seemed Like Home Thrust to Choir Singer.

To the inhabitants of the little town of Princeton, Me., the subject of matrimony is a serious one, there being very few eligible men in the place, while old maids are legion. The little church in the town being without a pastor was receiving a candidate every Sunday from some theological seminary, and the maiden ladies were anxiously awaiting for the parish to decide which of the candidates should permanently fill the pulpit.

At last the decision was made. Now, the choir was composed almost wholly of ambitious maidens, so it is needless to say that on the morning of the first sermon by the new minister every member of the choir was arrayed in the brightest ribbons and gayest smiles. Perhaps the foremost one in the chase for admirers was a Miss Duplacy, and she had chosen the seat in the choir where she could not fall to be seen by the minister.

That morning the minister chose for his sermon this subject: "Keep thine eye single," and the first words of his sermon were these: "Beware of duplicity." All eyes turned to Miss Duplacy. The next Sunday she gave up her seat in the choir.

San Francisco's Rat War.

The raid on rats at this time is not the first of the kind in San Francisco. In 1852, when the sidewalks in Kearny and Montgomery streets were as uneven as the existing walks in Market street east of Front, and were made up of dry goods boxes laid in the mud end to end, some high and some low, the town was overrun with rats of all colors—gray, white, brown and black. At night they would crawl out of their holes and run along the uneven walks. They were so thick on the streets during the spring of the year named that women were afraid to go out after nightfall, and the men who ventured forth on the poorly lighted streets often stepped on a dozen rodents in walking the distance of a block. It was no uncommon thing to see men with crooked canes on the sidewalk playing shinney, the rats being used in place of knurs. In that way many were killed.

MARKET REPORT.

Special to the Garland Globe:—

Kansas City Stock Yards, May 18, 1908. —Cattle receipts last week were larger than they have been running for several weeks, and the market averaged the highest of any week this year for all kinds of killing cattle. Stockers and feeders reached too high a figure Monday to hold up, and as receipts of this class were liberal, and the demand restricted account of the high range, prices dropped 30 to 50 cents by the close of the week. The run today, 10,000, market about same on all kinds. There is a better sale for the meat than a short time ago, and although receipts are running heavier than expected, the situation is healthy. A good many fed Colorados and Oklahoma cattle were here today, steers selling at 6 10 to 6 70, cows 3 50 to 5 50, calves at 3 75 to 5 75, stockers at 3 75 to 5 40, feeders at 4 65 to 5 50. Grass cattle will move earlier than usual this season, as everything came through the winter in such good shape that stock going on pasture had a big advantage this year over the ordinary season.

Sheep receipts last week were 45,000, a considerable increase over both the previous week and the corresponding week a year ago. Buyers took hold at the start, and bought freely all week, closing prices standing slightly better than the opening of the week. Receipts at Buffalo lately have been light, which enables western packers to sell more meat in the East, and this accounts for the free buying here lately. The run today is 15,000 head, lambs steady, but Texas mutton slightly lower. Woolled lambs from Colorado sold at 6 90 to 7 35, which top is highest here in two weeks. Clipped lambs go at 6 10 to 6 50, clipped western sheep 5 25 to 6 00, including yearlings. Quality of Texas muttons is not good today, 84 to 90 pounds weathers at 5 20 to 5 30, ewes worth 5 00 to 5 20, choice wethers 5 50, and medium to common mixed sheep 4 25 to 4 75. A good many goats have been included lately, at 3 40 to 3 85, Arizona ewes last week at 5 25, and some spring lambs, medium classes, from Arizona at 5 65.
